The Turning Times is published monthly as an information source for members of the East Texas Woodturners (ETW). ETW is a chapter of The American Association of Woodturners (AAW) and is committed to serving woodturners in the East Texas area surrounding Tyler, Texas. The ETW Chapter joins with the AAW in its dedication to providing education, information and organization to those interested in woodturning.

Meeting at TJC West

November 5, 2011

The Prez Says:

Hello ET Turners,

Constructive Criticism - I tend to get into a rut when turning, doing the same cuts, same shapes, over and over again. I guess all this repetition is a good way to build muscle memory while refining my shapes or techniques. But this can also lead to unwanted baggage, i.e., development of bad habits. And, although I may think the shape is good, it may be lacking true artistic style.

Several years ago when Alan LeLand was teaching one-day classes for our club in my shop, and staying with me, he spent quite a bit of time looking at my turnings in the house. He offered some very good criticisms that I took to heart. One criticism was that he noticed that when I parted off a bowl or vessel, I simply cut straight across (I did make a concave cut so the turning would stand flat on a surface). He suggested that if I would continue my curve around the base instead of leaving it straight, it would lift my piece up making a shadow line at the surface resulting in the appearance of levitation.

I now make sure all my turnings have this continuing curve around the bottom to lift them up.

So how do we get constructive criticism in our club? When I joined the club, we had one of our best turners who would critique the Show and Tell turnings. The critiques were very informative and helpful, but the membership obviously did not like it because the number of Show and Tell items fell off. Apparently, we did not want anyone to critique our work in front of others.

Here is my suggestion to get some constructive criticism. Be humble enough to contact someone in our club that you really respect, ask him to look at your piece or pieces and to offer comments as to style, technique, heaviness, finish, etc. Listen carefully, ask questions; then, decide if you agree. You don't have to agree with everything they may tell you but more than likely, they will provide some tips and observations that will improve your skills and turnings. Give it a try.

EXHIBITING

WOOD TURNERS & WOOD WORK SCULPTURES

Be a Part of Gold Leaf Gallery's Wood Exhibit and sell your pieces for Christmas!

Gold Leaf Gallery is planning a Wood Works & Wood Turners Exhibit from November 17 to January 7 for the Christmas season. They will be posting the invitation to the event on facebook as well as many other local calendar of events and expect a great crowd for the opening reception Thursday, Nov 17, from 5-8 pm. There will be wine, cheese and other goodies for everyone to enjoy while meeting and greeting any of you who would like to participate. Gold Leaf Gallery expects to have a very busy Holiday season and looks forward to having beautiful wood pieces as additional gifts in the gallery. Their commission is 30%, so price your work accordingly. They have already sold some work brought in by Mike Tate! They will be setting up the exhibit Saturday, Nov. 12 to Nov. 15. You are welcome to take your work in anytime through Nov. 12.

Gold Leaf Gallery is located in the French Quarter across from the mall on Broadway (4518 S. Broadway); 903-597-2645; Hours of operation are M-F 9:30-5:00 and Sat 9:30-3:00pm.

The ETW Steering Committee is recommending that members participate in the Beads of Courage program. This program aids children undergoing treatments for cancer. Tom Crosby is the ETW representative for this program. Check with him for more information or go to <http://beadsofcourage.org>.
